PURPOSE

This position will have the unique opportunity to shape the strategic vision for the education and public programs of the Irving Archives and Museum's (IAM), which serves as the central hub for Irving's museum system; further, it plays a key role in shaping the overall direction for the City of Irving's museums and works to develop deeper engagement with the community through our museum programs. While practicing hands-on and engaging techniques and exhibiting passion about museums' essentiality to the community they serve, this position will work with educators, students and community organizations to develop and implement educational programs, oversee the IAM's Smithsonian Spark!Lab, and develop public programs.

ESSENTIAL DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

To perform this job successfully, an individual must be able to perform each essential duty satisfactorily.*

- Oversee the planning, design, budgeting, implementation, and evaluation of new educational programming to achieve our goals of expanding our reach and impact and making learning enjoyable, accessible, and interesting for a wide range of museum visitors.
- Work with other staff and stakeholders to create a culture of community engagement. Embodying the IAM's strategy for its exhibition and program content to be innovative and relevant to diverse audience interests and needs, the position has a continuous priority to understand, involve, welcome, and engage traditional and non-traditional audiences.
- Work with Smithsonian staff to implement and create a successful Spark!Lab at the IAM. Work with the marketing department to produce a robust plan to promote this keystone program as well as other programmatic and educational opportunities.
- In collaboration with the Director, develop and deepen relationships with thought leaders, educators, policy makers, and key funders.
- Working with the Irving Arts Center staff and the IAM Guest Experience Coordinator, create and maintain a thriving volunteer program.

OTHER DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

- Attend and present material at a variety of public events which may include career fairs, festivals, school related events, etc.; deliver information on services offered, including departmental programs and special initiatives, facility tours, etc.
- Maintain active presence in profession by attending and presenting at workshops and conferences relevant to field.
- Maintain availability to work evening and weekend hours as required.
